

Marcey Lynn Jones is a native of New Haven who has worked in public service for over 30 years. Mama Marcey, as she is so well known, has worked with over 12 youth groups, including Ice The Beef and NO Bad Apples. She has mentored over a hundred youth. Some even became public figures in entertainment and politics. Marcey Lynn Jones attended five parochial schools in New Haven and graduated from Hamden High School. Her higher education includes a Master's in the science of philosophy. She is a certified Christian apologetics research minister, gaining accreditations. In 2007, she began XStreet Ministry. The ministry canvased the streets from 1 am to 4 am for five years.

X consists of people who have overcome addiction, homelessness, wayward lifestyles, and abuse. Who, without having to be ordained, used the word of God to aid anyone met on the streets at those times. She founded In Faith Advice, a one-stop resource center for human and civil rights help. Marcey is a delegate for the communist party of the United States of America. She is also the former co-chair for New Haven CT Ward 30. Marcey Lynn Jones has dedicated her life to building knowledge for the New Haven community and ensuring the indemnification of youth programs. She is restoring the morale of as many people as she can. Her future endeavors include a home in Newhallville for young adults suffering from incurable diseases. She has numerous citations from the state of Connecticut and proclamations from the city of New Haven for her work. Lastly, Marcey Lynn Jones believes that teaching all traumas is a lesson to be shared with others to heal. Her dream is to connect people with aligned traumas to each other. These missions will enable people to heal each other mentally, physically, and spiritually by communicating experiences with someone who understands the exact experience of the trauma. Marcey has been the host of MarceyLynn, Once again on 103.5 WNHHLP New Haven independents community radio for over a year.
