

Angelo Sevilla (sevilla.angelo101@gmail.com) is a student at New Haven Academy. Angelo serves on his school's Facing History Council, Outdoors Club, Gender and Sexuality Alliance, and Hispanic Heritage Club. Angelo is a team member of his school's Model UN Club.

Angelo served at the New Haven Purchasing Department, reviewed customers' bids for the city, and organized insurance paperwork and checks for the purchasing department. Angelo shadowed meetings with heads of the city and was promoted to a paid intern.

Angelo has a passion for teaching and has assisted with activities that promote higher-level thinking, perspective, and leadership development. Angelo is a teacher assistant for Spanish 3 and 4, creating lesson plans and teaching more advanced verbal concepts. Angelo is a board member at Social Justice Readers and guides students in their action projects. Angelo is a volunteer at New Haven Reads' Book Bank and will begin tutoring elementary school students in literacy. Angelo is a Community Outreach Director for the College Bound Bipoc Students Alliance (CBBSA), which provides New Haven students with resources for college preparation and advising, scholarship opportunities, SAT test prep, internships, and student board and advisory council opportunities.

Angelo spent his summer at New York University (NYU), participating in on-campus lectures and workshops on classes about biology, physics, general chemistry, psychology, and neuroscience. Angelo was part of the Yale Daily News Summer Program and produced a story that was issued in the Yale Daily News. Angelo was also selected to participate in a skating program at Mass MOCA to attend community-based speeches and participate in skateboarding.

Angelo enjoys his free time by running, boxing, and watching anime.
